TYPHOID FEVER

Causes Death of a Young Pembroke Mechanic.

Robert Gardner, a cooper at the Pembroke Mills, and son of Mr. B. F. Gardner, died Sunday afternoon of typhoid fever. He was about 20 years old.

FEVER VICTIM

Dies Suddenly of Heart Failure at Pembroke.

The wife of the late James Beach died suddenly of heart failure at her home in Pembroke about noon Sunday. She had been sick with typhoid fever for several weeks, but was thought to be on the road to recovery. She arose from her bed and attempted to walk across the room, when she fell to the floor and expired in a few minutes.

Deceased is survived by one child, aged about two years. Her husband died of fever about ten days ago.

MRS. JACK NANCE DEAD.

Wife of Former Hopkinsville Policeman Passes Away.

Mrs. Mattie Nance, wife of J. B. Nance, formerly of this city, died at her home in Frankfort last Thursday, of consumption. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. John Heister, formerly of Lafayette, but now of Texas, and was about thirty years old.

Mr. R. S. Lindsay, of Pee Dee, and Mrs. Georgia Shanklin, of Church Hill, attended the burial, which took place in Frankfort Saturday.

SIMRELL-SOUTHGATE.

Minister's Daughter Marries Covington Business Man.

Mr. Chas. W. Simrell, of Covington, and Miss Sara Southgate, were married last evening at the Methodist church. Rev. W. C. Brandon, presiding elder officiating. The couple took the night train for a trip to the lakes to return to Covington about Sept. 15. The bride is a daughter of the Rev. E. L. Southgate pastor of the Methodist church and is an attractive young lady. The groom is a prominent young business man of Covington.

KING CROWNED.

Edward VII of England Wears the Crown of His Ancestors.

All the Pomp of Ancient Tradition Was Put in Use Saturday Aug. 9.

London, Aug. 9.—With all the pomp and pageantry imposed by tradition, and with all the attendant marks of splendor for which London has been for months preparing, the splendid crown of Great Britain was today placed upon the brow of Edward, seventh of his name to bear the title of King of England.

Westminster Abbey was thronged with notables, all nations of the world being represented in glittering panoply. The King's full convalescence was assured by the firmness with which he bore himself through the long and necessarily arduous ordeal, although in deference to his recent illness a number of important changes had been made in the coronation program, materially reducing the length of the ceremony as originally planned.

The big spectacle for the general public was the coronation procession. The streets along which the imposing pageant passed were densely packed, many persons having held points of vantage all through the night, while the stand speculators did a thriving business.

Upon the monarch's return to Buckingham Palace, where, on June 25, he lay at death's door, it was officially announced that he had stood well the day's ordeal. No accident marred the processions or the ceremonies in the Abbey. An incident approaching the sensational occurred when the venerable Archbishop of Canterbury attempted to place the crown on the King's head. Overcome by nervousness and suffering from impaired eyesight, he started to place the emblem backward. An instant later he swooned and would have fallen had not Edward himself grabbed him by the arm.

DIED OF CONGESTION.

OFFICIAL FIGURES

Slightly Changed By the Final Count.

District Committee Met at Dawson Springs Last Saturday.

The Democratic Committee of the Second Congressional District met at Dawson Springs Saturday to make the final canvass of the votes cast in the recent primary election. All of the members were present in person or by proxy except Mr. T. A. Pedley, of Owensboro.

The official figures were as follows:

COUNTY.	S.	B.	T.
Christian	302	1115	455
Daviess	524	44	332
Hopkins	98	2906	43
Henderson	2197	243	281
Hancock	154	6	427
McLean	596	303	304
Union	1118	484	528
Webster	1158	598	160

Total.....6107 5591 5570

The total expenses of the primary were found to have been $1,880, or $235 to the county, or about $11.00 to the precinct. Seals and linen envelopes were not used, except in counties where they could be borrowed. Ballot boxes and booths were also borrowed. Officers were paid $1 each and but little was paid for mileage. The officers appointed were notified by mail instead of by the sheriff of the county, and strict economy was observed. Daviess and Webster counties expended all of their allowances, the other counties saved enough to return $120.00 to the candidates—$40 each.

Mr. Stanley, the nominee, was not present, but sent the following letter:

GENTLEMEN OF THE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE OF THE SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

Dear Sirs—I deeply regret that it is impossible for me to meet you on this auspicious occasion. The serious strain of the campaign has rendered it absolutely necessary that I should take, without delay, a much needed rest.

Very Sincerely Yours,

A. O. SIMS, JR., N. L. Y.

Mayor J. H. Powell, of Henderson, the bearer of this message, then briefly addressed the committee, accepting the nomination for Mr. Stanley and reiterating his thanks.

Mr. John B. Brasher also appeared before the committee and gracefully accepted his defeat and pledged himself to do all he could to elect his successful opponent by a big majority. It was a manly, patriotic speech and showed that Mr. Brasher is under all circumstances a true and loyal Democrat.

The committee before adjourning adopted a resolution thanking Chairman Chas. M. Meacham and Secretary D. W. Gatlin for their efficient and impartial services in conducting the primary election to the satisfaction of all the candidates.

GARLAND-TRIBBLE.

Popular Young Christian County Farmer Weds Henderson Woman.

Mr. Charles R. Garland, a popular and very successful young farmer, of near Casey, and Miss Carrie Tribble, a charming young woman of Henderson, were united in marriage at 4 p. m. last Thursday in Nashville. Mr. Garland and his bride left immediately for Red Boiling Springs, Tenn., to spend two days.

On their return they will make their home with the groom's mother.

Mrs. W. S. Perkins has gone to Oklahoma to join her husband, who left for the West some time ago.

BAXTER TONIGHT.

President of Tennessee Central Will Visit Hopkinsville.

Citizens' Meeting Called to Welcome Him at the Court House.

President Jere Baxter, of the Tennessee Central Railroad, will meet the citizens of Hopkinsville in the circuit court room tonight. Mr. D. G. Carpenter, who looks after the right of way for the road, was in the city Friday and Saturday. H. H. Abernathy, secretary of the Commercial Club, has made the following urgent call to the citizens:

"Jere Baxter, president of the Tennessee Central Railroad, will be here Tuesday night, Aug. 12, and will consult with us at the court house at 8 o'clock. Everybody who is interested in the welfare of Hopkinsville is urged to attend this meeting. This road will be built through Christian county. We can get it or we can sit still and miss it. Now, what will you do? If we get it, we cannot measure the benefit. If we miss it, we cannot measure the damage. If we want it, let us put our shoulder to the wheel and give the pliancy they may want. Be sure and come to the meeting in the circuit room at 8 o'clock Tuesday night."

A large crowd is anticipated for this meeting, as the town nearly as a whole is very anxious for this city to be the terminus of the Tennessee Central, and it is very likely that the matter will be definitely settled at the meeting tonight.

FEVER VICTIM.

Sam Hayes Dies After a Brief Illness.

Mr. Samuel Hayes, engineer for the Acme Mills Company, died at his home on 1st St. Friday night after an illness of only a few days of typhoid fever. He was 24 years old. The funeral was held at his late residence Saturday afternoon and the interment took place in Hope-well cemetery.

It is given out that the final decision has been made that Pratt and not Yerkes will be the Republican candidate for Governor next year.

GARTH-RUSSELL.

Prominent People of Trenton Married in Nashville.

G. E. Garth and Miss Eunice Russell; C. E. Russell and Miss Nellie Carpenter arrived in Nashville Sunday from Trenton and Elkton, Ky. The purpose of the visit was the marriage of Mr. Garth and Miss Russell. License had to be procured which was difficult on Sunday and Presbyterian ministers were scarce. Rev. J. C. Cowan, however, was found and an impressive ceremony was performed in the Maxwell House parlors in the afternoon. The desire of the couple was to have the ceremony perfectly quiet so that only one person was present—S. A. Cunningham. This news of the wedding will be a surprise to their friends as the engagement had been kept a secret.—American.

BLAZE ON VIRGINIA.

Hord Block Badly Damaged by Fire Thursday Night.

The store of Henry King, in the Hord block, was partially destroyed by fire last Thursday night. Mr. King left a lamp on the scales in the rear room, used for storing feed stuff, and the suppositions that the lamp either fell or exploded. Mr. King's loss on stock is probably $500. The store house belonged to Mr. J. G. Hord and this was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

The grocery stock of Williams & Walker, in an adjoining building, was also considerably damaged by smoke and water and Mr. Hord's store in the same block was considerably damaged. The losses are covered by insurance.

ABANDONMENT ALLEGED.

Couple Married in Christian County 16 Years Ago.

Alice Campbell has sued for divorce from Marshall Campbell, alleging abandonment. They were married in 1886 and lived together about three years, says plaintiff. Defendant is a non-resident, having been making his home near Evansville for some time.

Misses Jeanie Graham and Jone Soyars are attending a house party at Wingo, Graves county, as guests of Miss Elizabeth Wilson, a former schoolmate.

young and old, were engaged in a struggle which one of them would not survive, for there was bitter hatred in the hearts of both, and both forgot the presence of the fair young girl, who, in her white chamber, looked on from the corner of the room, and watched her father fighting for the life of her husband.

"The fight did not last long. The captain, a better swordsman than his nephew, younger and more active, too, tried to disarm Sir Pierce, but a sudden movement of the elder man sealed his own fate; the father of Lady Isabel fell with her husband's sword-point in his side.

"One word—one word, Ralph, before I die," he whispered. "Lower," gasped the dying man, "lower!" And as his son-in-law stooped down to him Sir Pierce struck upwards with a sudden movement, using a dagger which had lain concealed in his left sleeve, and, with a rush, threw himself headlong from the window. Her shriek aroused the house, and two days later three corpses were carried to the old graveyard of Holmwood church, where all the Wilbrahams lie buried.

Lady Isabel was buried there beside her husband, but her spirit cannot rest, and on every anniversary of the tragedy—some say, indeed, on other nights as well—Lady Isabel visits her old bedroom just as the turret-clock strikes three.

"She goes to the corner from which she watched the fatal struggle which ended in the deaths of her husband and father; she tries, as she tried on that night long years ago, to shriek for help, but no sound comes from her lovely lips.

"Those who have seen the ghost—and I know many who have done so—have seen the strains of blood upon her chamber-door, and say that, after striving pitifully to call for help, the ghost of Lady Isabel—as Lady Isabel herself did on the night of her death—glides to the window, throws herself from it, and disappears. Then sometimes—not always—a long loud wail is heard from the garden, and next morning the window of the bedroom is found open, although it was securely closed and bolted the evening before.

"Oh, you may smile, Miss Anstruther—or for Miss Anstruther was laughing at the solemnity with which Capt. Wilbraham was finishing his story—but I can assure that I would not sleep in Lady Isabel's bedroom for all the wealth of the Rothschilds!"

"I would for less than that," laughed Mary Anstruther. "And what is more, I will!"

Everybody laughed excepting Miss Simpkins, who declared that "those Anstruther girls were always trying to put themselves forward and make people talk about them"—and most of us tried to dissuade Miss Anstruther from sleeping in the room. She would not be persuaded, though, and about 11, after a bad night had been lighted and the old-fashioned room had been made as comfortable as possible, we all ascended the obnoxious young lady to it, and bade her good-night.

"Good-night and pleasant dreams to all of you; and you may look for a full, true, and particular account of Lady Isabel at breakfast-time to-morrow!" cried Mary Anstruther, gaily.

"Nothing ghostly about the room, at all events," laughed Mary, as she began undressing.

Mary Anstruther was not a sentimental girl, and the story of Lady Isabel did not particularly impress her. As she undressed by the glow of the electric light, her thoughts ran on the possibilities of some of the most of Holmwood trying to play a ghost than upon any possibility of an actual ghost appearing.

"Whether they come or not, I shall not wait for them at all events," she said. "And within five minutes after she had jumped into the large red-curtained bed Miss Mary Anstruther was asleep.

She was awakened by a thumping and a scratching at the door, and sat up listening. The room was not altogether dark, for the fire still threw a dim uncertain light over the room.

"Somebody evidently means to have a 'look' with me," she thought. "Well, let them come!"

She was sitting up very slowly, and a white figure glided into the center of the room. Its back was turned from the bed, and it seemed to be gazing into the corner where the fight between Sir Pierce and Capt. Wilbraham had taken place.

"Oh, give me a minute or two more," she said, and then, turning, she looked out of the room, "was Mary Anstruther's internal comment. "If she's a ghost, she'll be nothing to lay hold of; but she won't like her reception and will go; if she's real flesh and blood, and she goes just the same, and then the laugh will be on my side to-morrow."

The white apparition tamed slowly toward the bed, and Mary Anstruther saw that the white bed-robe was stained with blood. There was blood, too, on the apparition's face, to which it pointed, and the hands were held out to the bed appealingly, as though it would speak, but could not voice the words.

"If it were only a little higher or I might see the face," said Mary to herself. "However, ghost or no ghost, out you go, my beauty!"

She said these last few words aloud, for, in spite of herself, she was beginning to feel a little worked upon the absolute silence of the scene.

Just then the turret-clock struck three.

"No; that's a little too appropriate," cried Mary. "Come, Mrs. Ghost, tell me who you are, or of with you! I don't want to get out of bed into the cold; but if you won't answer me I must do so."

Again those hands were held out appealingly; again the figure seemed to make a wild effort to speak—Mary Anstruther even thought she saw the bloodstained lips form the word "Help!" but the light was too insufficient for her to be sure. And then the young girl sprang out of bed, seized her unwelcome visitor by the shoulders, which were warm and of undoubted flesh and blood, and, without a word, thrust her out into the passage, and closed and locked the bedroom door. The pseudo ghost stumbled and fell as she was pushed from the room.

"My Lady Isabel will be a little bolder to-morrow morning!" laughed Mary Anstruther. And in five minutes she was asleep again.

Next morning, when she woke, Mary found blood-marks on her hands.

"Pooh!" she said. "This is carrying a joke a bit too far! However, we shall see at breakfast-time if the ghost of Lady Isabel—as Lady Isabel herself did on the night of her death—glides to the window, throws herself from it, and disappears. Then sometimes—not always—a long loud wail is heard from the garden, and next morning the window of the bedroom is found open, although it was securely closed and bolted the evening before."

Dr. G. Goldstein Will Return August 11th and Remain Two Days.

The abuse of that delicate organ, the eye, is a prevalent evil of this country. The Germans had a wise saying, "Touch not the eye except with your elbow." That is equivalent to saying don't touch your eye at all. Still further caution in reference to the eye is illustrated in the experience of those negligent persons who grope through life straining and ruining the sight instead of consulting upon the first sign of weakness, squinting or watering. Another fatal mistake has been by clinging too long to a favorite pair of glasses that may have once suited the conditions of sight and opened a new scene of the world and changed the retina as to render the glasses worse than useless. Properly adjusted glasses will most certainly preserve the eye while any other kind of glasses will be worse than none at all.

Let us advise those who are the least interested in this article to avail themselves of an opportunity to consult Dr. Goldstein, and allow him to straighten the matter out with you in short order. He is reliable and his skill is fully and thoroughly established throughout the territory in which he has practiced. He will be at Hotel Latham.

Ordinance.

Whereas it is deemed desirable that a certain territory lying on the South side of the corporate limits of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., between Virginia street and the Cox Mill road, be annexed to the city of Hopkinsville, Ky.

It is therefore ordained by the Board of Council of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky.

That upon its own motion a certain territory lying South of the corporate limits of the city of Hopkinsville, between Virginia street and Cox Mill road, consisting of about six acres and bounded and described as follows: Beginning in the center of Cox Mill road opposite the corner post between the lands of M. F. Crenshaw and J. B. Trice; thence with said line S. 13 E. 2 poles and 14 links thence S. 12 W. 13 poles and 12 links with said line to the corner between said Crenshaw and T. D. Moore; thence S. 75 E. 654 poles to Virginia street where the corporate limits cross said street; thence N. 50 W. 80 poles with the city line to the beginning be annexed to the city of Hopkinsville, Ky.

This ordinance to take effect from and after its passage.

Approved: CHAS. S. JACKSON, Mayor.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE.
Guests Have Funny Experiences Due to Watchfulness of Guards.
Guests at the white house have had some funny experiences. A man and his wife were assigned to apartments in the house. The man went out to attend a dinner and did not return until after midnight. The men at the door at that hour had not seen him and had not been informed that he was stopping at the house. Naturally they stopped him when he started to pass through the vestibule toward the residence proper. He explained that he and his wife were occupying the apartments, but that same thing could have been said by some one seeking to gain admission to the private rooms of the president. The doorknobs insisted on identification, but as every one in was in bed and no one cared to arouse the president at that hour of the night, it looked as if the visitor would be obliged to wait a night watchman who was making a round of the building continued to remember that the man had visited there once before. This, with other evidence that the visitor was able to produce, convinced the doorknobs, and he was permitted to go upstairs to bed.

ELIZA GRIER.
A Negro Woman Who Was a Successful Physician in Georgia.
Eliza Grier, a colored woman, and a physician, who was a native of Mendenburg county, died in Albany, Ga., recently, in her thirty-ninth year. She was a daughter of George Washington Grier, of Matthews, and has had, says the Charlotte (N. C.) Observer, a distinguished career. When young she was graduated with honors at Scotia seminary, in Caberous county. She was afterward graduated from Fisk university, studying medicine, and subsequently took a post graduate course in medicine at another college. She stood a flattering examination before the medical board of South Carolina and practiced medicine at Greenville for a short while. She then went to Georgia and located in Atlanta, after having passed an examination before the Georgia medical board. Some years ago she moved to Albany, Ga., and practiced her profession there until her death. She left considerable property.

AN ELEPHANT'S EDUCATION.
How the High Animal Is Taught Various Circus Tricks.
Although the elephant is not a carnivorous animal, says London Answers, he is dangerous at times. If you want to teach an elephant to stand on his head, you have to be very careful. Chains are placed round his hind quarters, and he is then hoisted by pulleys in the air effect enough for him to understand what is required of him. To teach these bulky creatures to pose is very difficult. One well-known position is one elephant standing with his forepaws on the hindquarters of another, while he flourishes his trunk in a theatrical attitude. To teach him to do this you first have to pass a chain round his neck and another round his trunk. The assistants haul away on the neck chain until the animal begins to choke. Naturally, he rises on his hindlegs in order to be able to breathe. Then the trunk cable is hauled on, and the elephant, on whose back he is to place his forepaws, is backed under them. Curiously enough, elephants dislike this treatment, and often, after a severe lesson, will attack their teacher.
If you want a walking elephant, you will have to engage a number of strong assistants, who will push the elephant round, some at either end of the great beast. You then shout "Waltz!" and all begin pushing. Soon the elephant learns to walk on the sound of the word, of his own accord.
Such tricks as ringing a bell, grinding an organ, are simple and effective. You simply put the object in the elephant's trunk and shake it for him.
When he dances with tinkling bells round his feet, one foot at a time is lifted and shaken by the assistants.

BY TELEGRAPH.
The Little Ticker Helps the Great World to Amuse Itself.
"Doing things by telegraph is a hobby now," said an observant man to a writer for the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "and it seems that there are but few things which may not transpire in this way. I read, a little while ago, about a marriage ceremony which had been performed in this way. It was a Chicago man, of course, who figured as the male principal, for they do strange things, you know, in Chicago. Chess games are played over the wire. The cable is even pressed into service by the experts who engage in the international games of chess. Long distance games are becoming common. In a little while, I guess, progressive euchre, seven up, poker, casino, old maid, solitaire and all the other games will be played over the wire. Yes, solitaire. Why shouldn't a man play with himself at long range? Why shouldn't a man telegraph to himself if he wants to? There is no law against it. It might be amusing. It might entertain. These things have been suggested by the series of bowling games which are now in progress between New Orleans and Mobile, games which are being played over the wire. It is a good thing, I like the idea. It might not do in poker. You couldn't tell the other fellow's face. You couldn't tell a bluff from a dead straight the game. But wire playing is all right, and I guess after while men will be dying by telegraph. There's no telling."

ALUMINIUM RUBIES.
Precious Stones the Result of Combustion of Metal.
"Metals may be burned for the sake of the heat and light they produce, just as ordinary fires are burned," said Prof. Roberts-Austen in a recent discourse at the Royal Institution. But the burning of metals, he proceeded to show, differs from that of ordinary fuels in that the products of combustion are not gaseous, but solid. "The burning of aluminium gives sapphires and rubies in the place of ashes." An instance of burning metal for the sake of light is furnished by the "magnesium star," a contrivance by which a shell, packed with magnesium and attached to a parachute is first electrically in the air, thus producing an illumination of the ground beneath at night. This finds its use in warfare. Recently aluminium has been found to be an admirable fuel for producing an intense heat to be used in welding. This kind of metallic fuel has assumed much industrial importance at Essen, in Germany, where, in consequence, metallurgy enters upon a new phase.—London Answers.

W. W. JACOBS INTERVIEWED.
A Little First Hand Information About a Novelist and Humorist.
Mr. W. W. Jacobs, whose amusing novel, "At Sunnyside Port," has just made its appearance, is quoted this way in a recent interview: "I do like to work and I have no methods. I published my first book, 'Many Cargoes,' in 1896, and since then one book of mine—never a very large one—has appeared each year, except in 1899, when I did nothing. "When I want an idea I sit down and think of one, and take as long as I possibly can in working it out. Sometimes I publish a story exactly as I first write it; sometimes I make many alterations. I really have no rules."
Mr. Jacobs is a slender, fair man, about 38 years of age. The reputation of being humorous is, he declares, a very undesirable possession. "People who meet me at tea wait expectantly for my conversation to be scintillating, and it never does. If I could be humorous all the time I should write a story a day. As a matter of fact, one's jokes are often born from much tribulation."
Speaking of humorous writing generally, Mr. Jacobs said he thought the essence of the art of comedy was knowing what to leave the imagination of the reader to fill in.
He lives at Buckhurst Hill, London, and says that the district is admirably suited for light literary work, as he and the milkman are the only males living there who do not go to the city by car.
Two of his stories have been dramatized, and he is thinking of writing a play.
ABOUT BIRD'S-EYE MAPLE.
Really Cut from the Rock Maple—Ordinary Trees Much Cheaper.
"The man who said that the veneer known as bird's-eye maple is produced only by cutting a maple log round the edge very much beside the mark," said a woodworker who makes a study of fire woods to a New York Sun reporter.
"Bird's-eye maple and curly maple are both cut only from the logs of the rock maple tree. Acer saccharinum, in which a beautiful lustrous grain is produced by the sinuous course of the fibers.
"This tree is not at all the common hard maple. It is a hard maple, but is full of the little gnarled curls."
"Men looking for bird's-eye maple logs go through the standing timber and pick out the bird's-eye maple trees, paying for them from $30 to $50 a thousand feet in the woods. Ordinary hard maple logs are worth only from six to seven dollars a thousand feet."
"It would be impossible to cut a piece of veneer with eyes in it from a common hard maple log, and would be equally impossible to cut a bird's-eye maple log, no matter how you cut it, so that it would not show the eyes."
"When a boy, many years ago, I have split up many a bird's-eye maple log, and stopped to admire the spots distributed all through it. Ordinary maple was then, and possibly is, so cheap that it was used for firewood in many places."
If you were to ask the average man to tell you offhand just what qualities he likes in other men, he would probably boggle a good deal over his answer, but he would and by giving you a list of abstract virtues closely resembling the list of "the hundred best books," which is, as a rule, what people feel they ought to be reading, rather than the books they do read, with pleasure. Ralston Pike, several of whose clever and discerning essays have been found in The Cosmopolitan during the last year, makes "What Men Like in Men" the subject of an entertaining essay in the August number of that periodical.

JUDGE THOS. J. NUNN, OF HOPKINS COUNTY.FOR CONGRESS,

OF HENDERSON COUNTY.

RICHARDSON'S LAST STAND.

The Glasgow Times, one of the earliest and ablest advocates of a state primary election, has undertaken the hopeless task of answering satisfactorily the several objections recently presented by the Kentuckian.

The first of these was that the party would have no platform of principles without a convention to formulate one.

The Times admits that this is an obstacle at least worthy of notice and proposes this remedy:

"The first of these objections is met by the suggestion that when each precinct primary is held, the Democrats there assembled vote on the question of platform; then let a delegate county convention be held which shall frame a declaration for the whole county. After all the 119 counties of the State have acted, let the state committee meet and frame a state platform in obedience to the expressed wishes of a majority of the party platforms. Or, let the different counties send delegates to a state convention empowered to deal solely with platform and organization."

The plan proposed is unworthy of serious consideration. An election is in progress for ten hours and the law prohibits the assembling of a crowd in the pool-room or within fifty feet of it at any time during election hours. A precinct convention held as proposed would have to be apart from the election and the 7,600 election officers, and the official challengers with them, would, of course, be debarred from participating in the 1,900 conventions to be held. Furthermore this plan would delegate to the inexperienced the preparation of a platform of principles to be assailed by the opposition upon every stump in the State. This work is usually entrusted to the ablest party leaders, who have studied the issues of the day and are qualified to prepare a platform that will strengthen the party and often sound the keynote of an approaching national campaign. All of this would be changed and the precinct convention of Pinchmerry, in Wayback county, in which Prof. Jones, the school teacher, was the only man qualified to act as clerk of the election, would be called upon to write a platform while the Professor was busy inside. This platform, with 1899 others made in the same way, would have to be condensed into a composite document after a commission of experts from the state committee had figured out what a majority of them meant. The very suggestion is enough to excite derision. It would impose upon the state committee duties entirely

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years there was no cure to be had. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly recurring to the local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney &amp; Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. foreign to its powers. It would be merely a clerical body with no authority to correct mistakes or adjust differences. If 900 platforms favored closing saloons on primary election days and the other 1,000 preferred having them open, the committee would have to register the will of the majority, as "an affirmation of principles straight from the popular heart." Where would the party be after its corpse had been strapped to such an unbroken team of wild horses pulling in opposite directions? This proposition alone, if made seriously, is one of the strongest of arguments against a primary election plan that would make such a thing necessary. It would be better, a thousand times better, to let the nominees get together and write their own platform. The committee could not write it without subjecting itself to renewed charges of ring rule, which was one of the five objections we have mentioned heretofore. With a committee of thirteen members to nominate the candidates having no opposition, by reason of their financial ability to enter the race, and then to write the platform, it would be ring rule reduced to a fine art and the party would take up a funeral march "from a slaughterhouse to an open grave."

The Times again reiterates the opinion that a state primary election can be held for $3,500, or about $29 to the county. This paltry sum would not be sufficient to meet the office expenses of the county committees in sending out supplies and notifying officers of election. The utter folly of this contention has been exposed again and again by those who have had actual experience. For instance, the congressional primary in the First district was on the very cheapest possible basis, with officers serving free and no costly official ballots, and yet it cost, if we are correctly informed, about $45 to the county. After it was over it was found that it was of no legal effect and the nominee had to be nominated over again. If the Times really wants to be informed on this subject we can show by an itemized schedule of supplies that a legalized state primary election cannot be held for less than $3,500 to each congressional district. We defy the editor to go to the records of his own county and prove that a regular election can be held for five times the estimate he makes for holding a primary under the same requirements, but with a larger and more expensive official ballot.

The fourth objection—that the committee has no legal authority to assess candidates—is passed by with a wave of the hand, as "too trivial for argument." And yet we assert as a fact that there is no authority for this in the statutes or in the party law. The unlawful taxation of candidates to raise $3,500, or any other amount, may seem a trivial matter, but the statement, as a legal proposition, has not been and cannot be successfully controverted.

To the fifth obstacle, the entire absence of authority of the state committee to call a State primary, the Times attaches more importance. It quotes from the primary election law this paragraph:

"The provisions of this article shall apply to all primary elections held for the purpose of nominating candidates for State, county, district or municipal offices hereafter held in this Commonwealth, except those held in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety two."

This incidental reference to State elections is the only straw at which our drowning friend can grasp. That this is without any force is shown by the fact that for ten years in hundreds of instances and no attention paid to the provision in the statutes, because the law itself made it optional upon party committees to hold primaries "under the provisions of this article." It was reserved for a Republican Court of Appeals, a few weeks ago, to decide that all primaries must be held under this law. The Democratic party has had no opportunity to enact party laws in conformity to the new construction of the primary law. Seeing the opportunities for fraud in primaries, so palpable that the law itself prescribes penalties, the conventions of 1896, 1899 and 1900 left the hands of the State committee, making it impossible for the party's governing authority to depart from the time honored methods of nominating candidates. It is absolutely necessary for parties to hold State conventions at least every four years. Platforms must be prepared by leaders competent to write them. Committees must be selected to constitute the governing authority of the party. Candidates must be nominated who are the choice of a majority of the people's representatives.

The Democratic party is founded upon the underlying principle of majority rule. It is the enemy of rings, cliques and combines. In Christian county last year a set of Republican office-seekers, some in office and others outsiders formed to the charmed circle, admitted a combine, had their names printed on a common ticket and agreed to stand or fall together in a primary election. Of course the political trust swept all opposition aside and where they succeeded, they drove 600 voters from the Republican party. With a primary election to nominate State officers it would be possible for a slate to be made up, a ticket arranged under a common device, and the Democratic party wrecked by a political trust, while the party organs were stultifying themselves in fighting trusts.

It would be possible for the gamblers and other criminal classes, who defy law and public sentiment and laugh at the constitution, to obtain recognition on such a ticket and nominate unworthy men, who could never win in a convention where a majority, and not a bare plurality, would be required to nominate.

It is indeed fortunate for the party that there is no authority vested in the State committee to order a primary election.

ON THE SIDE OF THE PEOPLE.

The New Era, in its issue of Saturday, contributes another chapter to the telephone franchise discussion, using again the same arguments that proved so effective with the Council, that the Cumberland had a plurality of franchises and that the people were clamoring for a monopoly in telephone service, with the Cumberland at the helm dictating its own terms.

As we have heretofore proven by the records, the Cumberland no longer has a franchise in Hopkinsville, and all argument based on a faulty major premise is of course illogical and false.

In Feb. 1882 a permit was given the East Tennessee Telephone Company to use the streets of Hopkinsville for its poles and wires. It was not a franchise, not even an ordinance. A simple permit, which was withdrawn five years later and the poles ordered down. This was done July 5, 1887, and at the same meeting a franchise was granted to S. H. Turner and others, which after investigation was confirmed and made exclusive Aug. 2, 1887, for a period of 15 years.

This franchise, subsequently sold to the Cumberland company, has expired. If the Cumberland company is attempting to exercise the privileges of a franchise under a permit that, like its Blake instruments, has long been obsolete, then it is attempting to ignore an ordinance declaring the poles of the East Tennessee Company a nuisance. But that delinquent company has had no rights to transfer for 15 years. It never had a lawful franchise. If it (the franchise) had been lawful and had not been repealed, it would still have ceased by constitutional limitation six months ago. No franchise can be for longer than 20 years, and after six years all corporations are compelled to accept the provisions of the constitution. The new constitution has been in effect for more than six years and viewed from any standpoint the Cumberland's franchise has expired and it cannot get another without conforming to the law and constitution, which has not been done in the attempt made to perpetuate its monopoly in the city at an expense of $4,000 to $5,000 a year to the people.

The Cumberland being without legal standing in the city, no amount of argument can justify the rejection of the Mott franchise in its interest.

That franchise the council had

I. W. HARPER KENTUCKY WHISKY

Sold by W. R. Long, Hopkinsville, Ky.

been petitioned to sell by 400 or 500 of their constituents. The petition was acted upon, the councilmen stated that they obeyed the will of the people, the franchise was sold, the money paid, the bond tendered, and then the council arbitrarily refused to confirm the contract that the people had demanded.

If they were misled by the Cumberland's "general counsel and other attorneys" who were ignorant of the facts, they should hasten to set themselves right and give the people what they have said over their signatures they wanted. The constitution prohibits an exclusive franchise and it is not for the council to deny what the constitution grants. The people know whether or not they want competition, which everywhere regulates trade. We are faring better with two railroads than we did with one. We are saving money by having two ice factories instead of one. There is competition in every line of trade and why should the council deny the people the right to choose between a good and a bad telephone system? The newspaper or the attorney that advocates a monopoly is not looking after the interest of the people. The people know what they want. In 1879 the New Era bitterly opposed the establishment of free schools. The people knew what they wanted and voted against the New Era's advice. Who was right then? The people have for years been working for a public building and the New Era, a few days ago, came out opposing this public improvement, that would be a blessing to the city. In spite of this unprogressive spirit, the people of Hopkinsville will not be discouraged by this opposition of a paper that ought to help rather than handicap its town and sooner or later we will have a public building.

Now comes the same paper advocating the shutting out of a public benefaction and improvement that would save $4,000 a year for the people and bring to the city an enterprise that would give employment to many men and girls.

Upon the same idea that we have railroads enough, it would be just as consistent for the New Era to oppose the advent of the Tennessee Central, which is even now asking the privilege of entering the city. The gentlemen on the Council have not been attacked. They need no defense from the Cumberland's attorney. They need not do a little more thinking and a little more investigating for themselves to avoid being misled. Be careful gentlemen from the general council "you accept advice. Perhaps your advisers may have selfish motives and when sell the trembling balance holds."

"It's rarely well adjusted."

The soldiers in camp at Mammoth Cave seem to be doing their best to make themselves solid with the commander-in-chief. According to the Courier-Journal, much attention is being paid to craps-shooting, a form of gambling that has been quite popular under the present administration. A serious row was narrowly averted Saturday because some disciples of Alvey from Louisville made the mistake of "shooting" with loaded dice. They were roughly handled and hustled out of camp. It is hardly likely that any visitor will have the temerity to again use loaded dice in the State encampment. The gambling must be strictly fair and according to Hoyle, or it will not be tolerated. The Battery A. and Battery B. boys were the ones who battered the strangers who would not play a fair game. The Courier-Journal follows its history of the fight with this paragraph:

"One Beckman has requested the two batteries to remain in camp until Friday or Saturday instead of going home Wednesday, as originally intended. The Governor thinks that the presence of the veterans and the well-drilled Battery A is a good thing."

State College of Kentucky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) College of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Physical, Entomological, Physiological, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering and Mining Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post-graduate courses of study are also provided, leading each to master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers more than forty professors and instructors.

County Appointees receive tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and lights, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses.

The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern.

The last and the preceding Legislatures appropriated $60,000 for a college home for young women and $30,000 for drill hall and gymnasium for men.

Military tactics and science are fully provided for and required by Congress.

Graduated from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remunerations. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of college to supply.

building will be three stories high,
constructed of buff brick and stone,
and will cost $17,000.

APPENDICITIS.

Some Facts Regarding Its Rapid Increase.

Appendicitis among Americans is certainly increasing and while this is probably due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often directly traceable to constipation. Appendicitis is caused by extraneous matter entering the vermiform appendix and not by the swallowing of seeds. If the digestive organs are kept in perfect condition so the food is fully assimilated and the bowels move gently, at least once a day, appendicitis will never develop. Don't take chances. Regular doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before meals will strengthen the organs of digestion, your appetite will be good, constipation disappears and you feel better in every way. Dr.
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not relax the bowels by irritation, but by curing indigestion, the cause of constipation. All druggists sell it in 50c and $1.00 bottles, under a positive guarantee. Write for book of testimonials to Peppin Syrup Co., Dept. 5, Monticello, Ill.

KILLING AT DAWSON.

One Negro Kills Another And Makes His Escape.

Walter Simpson, the colored cook
at the New Century hotel at Dawson, was shot and killed by Richard Shelby, another negro of Princeton.
The alleged murderer escaped.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Columbia, By Chamberlain's Colic,
Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician of Panama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery.
Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were at their wits' end. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better;
inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week she was 'entirely well.' For sale by
C. K. Wyly.

FAMILY HEIRLOOMS.

Are Made Good as New by Woods,
the Expert Workman.

Mr. W. A. Woods, the practical upholsterer, who located here some months ago, is supplying a need in the furniture line that has long been felt. His workshop is at P-P & Garrett's and he has had a rush of business from the very start.
Mr. Woods is an expert workman and his work takes a wide range.
He upholsters, repairs, varnishes, works in cane and in fact does any kind of repairing. He also re-covers umbrellas and makes other repairs. He has shown his skill in turning out some very fine jobs in restoring old and valuable furniture, heirlooms and antique specimens. To his former appearance, making it look as well as when new.
The city is fortunate in being able to have this class of work done without having to send it away.
Those who have patronized Mr.
Woods recommend him highly.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mr. Curtis Baker, of Bookwiler, Ohio: "I suffered from cholera infantum.
The doctor had given up all hopes for me. I had been told of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling me I felt sure it would do good.
I used it according to directions, in two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by C. K. Wyly.

A Visiting Minister.

Rev. B. D. Gray, of Georgetown, preached at the Baptist church Sunday in the absence of the pastor, Rev. C. H. Nash. He is one of the leading clergymen of the Bluegrass.

Went to Visit His Sister.

A. J. Cottingham went to Washington, County, Ark., to see his sister and while there was taken with flux (dysentery) and was very bad off. He decided to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was so much pleased with the prompt cure which it effected, that he wrote the manufacturers a letter in praise of their medicine. Mr. Cottingham resides at Lockland, Ark. This remedy is for sale by C. K. Wyly.

A Fine Boy.

Mrs. Walter Cox, of Gracey, presented her husband with a fine eight-pound baby boy last Thursday night.

Summer Complaint.

If the stomach and bowels are free from gas and acid, and fluid accumulations and the habits regular, your children will go through the heated term without sickness.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin resists all such troubles by removing the obscure cause and keeps the system in perfect working order.
All Druggists.

Gone Into Bankruptcy.

Mrs. Lena May, of Pembroke, has filed a petition in bankruptcy.
Her liabilities are $1,635; assets
about $1,700.

Go to W. A. WOODS, PYLE
& GARNETT, for umbrella repairs.

LOCAL MERCHANT.

Endorses Check For Stranger and Latter Secures Warrant.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of N. C. Eaton, a traveling man, charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses and forgery.

Eaton claimed to represent a Cincinnati grocery house.

He sold several bins of goods in the city, among them one to Mr.
Henry Vanhooser.

He had in his possession a check for $50, purporting to be given by the firm he represented. Mr. Vanhooser's endorsement was secured to the paper and Eaton drew the money from a local bank. He then left the city.

Mr. Vanhooser wired the firm concerning the check and got an answer to the effect that no such man was in their employ and that the check was a forgery.

He then reported the matter to the police and swore out a warrant.
It was learned Friday that a man answering the description of Eaton had purchased a ticket from Princeton to Louisville and the authorities in the latter place were notified by telephone that he is wanted here.

He had not been arrested at last accounts.

"IKE" QUIGLEY DEAD.

Was at One Time Chief Justice of Appellate Court.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 7.—The Hon. I. M. Quigley, of this city, died at Dawson Springs last night, after an illness of more than a year's duration. He was afflicted with dropsy and locomotor ataxia, and went to Dawson about two weeks ago in the hope of receiving benefit from the medicinal waters there.

Judge Quigley was about forty-six years old, and was unmarried.
Judge Quigley's first official experience was as a member of the Kentucky Legislature of 1891-2,3, the body that had the revision of the entire Kentucky statutes to conform to the new Constitution. There is hardly a statute on the books that has not some of the imprints of his hands. The present local option law is his own draft. He was largely responsible for the present charter for cities of the third class.
He was re-elected to the Legislature of 1894, and on the death of Judge Bennett he was appointed to the Court of Appeals' bench, serving as Chief Justice for the rest of the term. Largely more than half the decisions rendered by him were embodied in the Kentucky Law Reports, because they embodied new principles. He was genial and lovable, and his many friends over the State will learn of his death with much regret.

AGENT IMPRISONED.

And Robbers Then Cleaned out
Cash Drawer.

I. D. Withers, L. & N. agent at Russellville, was robbed by two masked men and locked in a box car. At the point of a pistol the men forced him into a box car, the door of which they locked after him.
A tramp who was waiting for a passing train was also locked in the car. The robbers then cleaned out the cash drawer and ticket case and disappeared. They are supposed to have been two of the convicts who escaped from the Nashville penitentiary. Withers and the tramp escaped from a car by a window which was left open, but they were afraid to come out for half an hour.

J. T. HARPER DEAD.

Prominent Trigg County Citizen Passes Away.

Mr. Jesse T. Harper, one of Trigg county's most worthy citizens, died last Wednesday at his home four miles north of Cadiz, after an illness of only a few days,
of cholera morbus.

Mr. Harper was 71 years old and a native of Virginia. In early life he came to Trigg county, and in 1857 was married to Miss Eliza
White, daughter of the late Rev.
John F. White, who, with an only daughter, Mrs. Sam Boyd, survives him. Mr. Harper was a member of Rocky Ridge Baptist church.

The Cadiz Record, in commenting on his career, says:
"The death of Mr. Harper removes from the ranks of life one of the best men that ever lived in Trigg county. Honorable and upright in all his dealings, with a conscientious regard for the rights of others that could be entertained only by the upright in heart, his life had ever been an example worthy of the imitation of all men, and his sudden taking away is a blow to Trigg county and people everywhere who knew him from which they will not soon recover."

Couldn't Eat Meat or Solid Food.

An interesting case, showing the effect of P. D. O. on indigestion is reported by John Canada, 222 Putnam street, Nashville. He says:
"I took Pre-Digested Oil according to directions and can say with much delight that the medicine is simply wonderful. It did me more good than any doctor's medicine ever did. And it is so pleasant to take. Before taking Pre-Digested Oil I was so troubled with indigestion and all the different ailments that accompany it that I couldn't eat any meat or any solid food scarcely. But now, thanks to P. D. O., I can eat almost anything without feeling the least bit of pain."

Pre-Digested Oil (P. D. O.) enters the stomach predigested and the delicate organs of the stomach
of digesting what it finds there.
One teaspoonful after each meal will cure the most stubborn case of indigestion quickly.

Brown's Oil Ointment cures all sores, piles and skin diseases.
Both for sale by all druggists.

ANNUAL OUTING.

Promising to Be a Big Success
This Year.

That a large number of people
from this section will go on the Old Point Comfort trip on the 19th inst.,
is now assured. Many from this city have secured space in the sleepers, which will run from Louisville. There will also be delegations from Casky, Pembroke, Trenton, Cadiz, Church Hill and many other near by points. Clarksville will have a large party, and Princeton, Paducah, Morganfield, Henderson, Madisonville, Earlington, Evansville and Owensboro will be well represented.

This is the best trip that can be taken for pleasure and comfort, and owing to its cheapness and long ticket-limit, all who can do so will take advantage of it.

Henry L. Shattuck of Shellsburg, Iowa, was cured of a stomach trouble with which he had been afflicted for years by four boxes of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. He had previously tried many other remedies and a number of physicians without relief. For sale by C. K. Wyly.

Dr. Goldstein Here.

Dr. G. Goldstein the celebrated optician, is at Hotel Latham and those desiring to see him should remember that to day is his last day in the city and call at once. He leaves tonight.

The following are the Democratic nominations in the ten congressional districts the Democrats expect to carry:

First—Ollie M. James.
Second—A. O. Stanley.
Third—John S. Rhea.
Fourth—David H. Smith.
Sixth—Linn Gooch.
Seventh—Georgie Trimble.
Eighth—Geo. G. Gilbert.
Ninth—Jas. N. Kahoe.
Tenth—Frank Hopkins.

The Eleventh district is hopelessly Republican and will be again represented by Vincent Boring.

Personal Gossip.

Mr. J. W. Downer has gone to Miss Mabel Dryer, daughter of Mr. Fred R. Dryer, of this city, has gone to Chicago, where she will join five of her former schoolmates, and they will then go direct to San Francisco. They will leave San Francisco on August 20 for Honolulu, where they have all accepted positions as teachers in a normal school.

Only a Mask.

Many are not being benefited by the summer vacation as they should be. Now, notwithstanding much outdoor life, they are little if any stronger than they were. The tan on their faces is darker and makes them look healthier, but it is only a mask. They are still nervous, easily tired, upset by trifles, and cannot eat or sleep well. What they need when they come home is a perfect digestion, creates appetite, and makes sleep refreshing, and that is H. H. Sarsaparilla Purifier and teachers generally will find the chief purpose of the vacation best subserved by this great tonic which, as we know, builds up the whole system.

WET MONTH.

Violent Storms Highly Probable
Throughout Southern States.

Florence, Ala., Aug. 10.—The weather predictions of Mr. Edens, which have been sent in by your correspondent several times, have proved so wonderfully accurate that Mr. Edens received letters from several scientists in the North asking for fuller accounts of his instrument and also for articles for publication in scientific papers.
The following is his forecast for August:

"August promises to be a wet month in the drought stricken region. The day of greatest danger from storms will be from 8th to 10th and 18th to 21st. The 18th or 19th, or within seven days thereafter,
violent storms are highly probable throughout the Southern States, and these two periods will furnish a good opportunity for the volcanoes of Costa Rica to give vent to the wrath which they have been threatening so long."

The Mayfield Messenger publishes an interesting compilation of the 34 newspapers of the First District. There are five dailies, one semi-weekly, one semi-monthly and twenty-seven weeklies.

Miss Stone, of bandit fame, lectured to 9,000 people in an Indiana

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW-REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is commended by Statesmen, Professional men and thousands of others prominent in the world's activities, for its fine discrimination in sifting the actual news from conflicting report and the presentation of current events in their just proportion. They comment on its freedom from daily-paper sensationalism. All men and women who want to know what the world is doing find it an intellectual necessity, to judge from the letters received from hundreds. Its editorials are comprehensive, and labor saving to the busy man or woman. Its timely contributions on important topics are by the best-informed writers. Its reviews of other magazines give the best of their best work. It is profusely illustrated.

These letters will enable all thoughtful men and women to judge of its value to them:

McClure's

ARE you interested in your fellow? Are you concerned in the affairs of life? Do you care anything about the great men who have brought about the conditions in which you live, and about who are in power in your life? Do you enjoy reading, animated stories that are true to life? Do you care for history in any form? Then there is no escape for you; you must join the army who read McClure's regularly.

A FEW FEATURES FOR 1902

New Romantic Love Story by BOOTH TARKINGTON, author of "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monks of the Convent," a tale of love-hatred-but triumph, of gallant men and beautiful women. It deals with life in Indiana at the time of the Mexican War.

True Story of the Standard Oil by JOHN L. FARGUE, interesting and helpful magazine, Michigan, Ohio, and elsewhere. A Battle of Millions. By the author of "Wall Street Stories," "The Forest Runner," Serial Tale of the Michigan Woods.

Josephine Dodge Daskam, More Child Stories.

INDIAN NOSTRARIAN.

Dionicio Chico, a Diogenes at Southern California, has reached the Age of 100.

Could the remnant of the California, Serrano and Diogenes Indians still living upon the foothills of the Coast range tell the complete story of their ancestors' origin and experience, it would far surpass in interest any modern romance. Some have attained a longevity so remarkable that they distinctly remember the times of the desperate trial wars of overwhelming floods and destructive earthquakes. Of such Dionicio Chico, belonging to the Diogenes, dwelling in the most primitive human habitation in the valley is probably its oldest inhabitant.

Twenty-six years ago, says N. H. Chittenden of the Los Angeles Herald, when I first rode into the old Mexican village of Agua Mansa, about four miles from Colton, on the banks of the Santa Ana, he was nearly 80 years of age.

Possessing extraordinary strength in his younger days, and personal courage to match, he was the victor in many combats of war and with love rivals. In one of these furious encounters of more than 70 years ago his antagonist, also an Indian of great power, bit off one of Dionicio's thumbs.

For many years during the exclusive occupation of southern California by the herds and flocks of the misfortune fathers and of the Spanish granters of extensive domains, Dionicio was the principal vaquero on the extensive ranch of Paso Tequila. But the oldest American settler of 30 years ago remember him as then too far advanced in years for such service, and when compelled to retire therefrom he built of poles, reeds and mud the rude little hut in which he has lived ever since. Once or twice a week, carrying his ration sack, he visits his wife's friends in Colton, who furnish him with provisions. For nearly ten years a kind-hearted Portuguese woman, Maria Paula, has fed him at her home whenever he comes to town.

DR. FRANK BILLINGS.

New President of American Medical Association is a Well-Known Chicago Physician.

Dr. Frank Billings, who has just been elected president of the American Medical association at the convention in Saratoga, N. Y., has been known among Chicago's medical practitioners and educators nearly 20 years. He was graduated from Chicago Medical college, now the med-

DR. FRANK BILLINGS.

(New President of the American Medical Association.) Dr. Frank Billings, of the medical department of Northwestern university, and, after a year spent as an internist at the Chicago hospital, engaged in post-graduate work at Vienna and Paris. Returning to Chicago, he accepted the chair of professor of medicine in Chicago Medical college, resigning to accept a similar position with Rush Medical college. He is now the dean of the latter college and the head of its medical department. He is also attending physician to the Presbyterian and Cook county hospitals. His contributions to current medical literature have given him a national reputation.

Streets paved with Glass.
Streets paved with glass are not by means unknown. The famous Rue de la Republique at Lyons is a notable example. Here the pavement is laid in glass blocks, eight inches square, which are so symmetrically fitted together as to prevent the possibility of water passing between the interstices.

Horses in Australia.
There were over 500,000 horses in Australia in 1900; now there are 1,000,000.

Pitching hay is hard work for anyone, but for the man who has the least tendency to bronchitis it is dangerous, because of the small particles of dust and chaff which are inhaled and greatly irritate the throat. Bronchitis and other diseases of the organs of respiration are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This great remedy is not to be classed with common cough medicines, which are mainly opiates. There is no opium in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from cocaine and all other narcotics. It is a non-alcoholic and non-narcotic medicine. It heals the inflamed tissues, cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs and other conditions, which, if neglected or unsuitably treated, terminate fatally in consumption.

"I wrote to you for advice and you advised me to take 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' which I did, and to my surprise got well," writes Mr. Joseph A. Valley, of Forman, Ill. (Box 1). "Had what the doctors called bronchitis, and whenever I would take cold would suffer greatly, but since taking two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one bottle of his 'Pleasant Pellets' have been cured of that terrible trouble. Before taking your medicine I weighed one hundred and twenty pounds; now weigh one hundred and thirty."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Dr. Pierce's Pellets cleanse the system from accumulated impurities.

Coal Office Removal.

I have moved by coal office to the Underwood yard on the L. & N. R. R., near "Acme Mills."

I take this method of thanking you for the business you gave me last season. I certainly needed it, and as a friend I need it a friend indeed! I certainly appreciated it. I am in much better position to serve you now, as I have made my arrangements to sell the best coal on the market. I have had my scales cleaned and tested as the following certificate of which this is a copy, is held by me and posted at my office.

Louisville, Ky., June 11, 1902. We have this day tested this scale and the same is correct.

Fairbanks, Morse & Co.
Signed, Geo. B. Woodware, Agt.

When I sell you "lump" coal you get lump coal and not "mixed" coal, and the other grades the same way. I am in the coal business to stay and expect to make my living out of it. I want your trade. I will appreciate it; I will treat you honestly. If you want your coal house filled now is the time to see me.

Very truly yours,
H. H. ABERNATHY, Agt.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

In Other States—Why Not Here?

Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, three states immediately North of us have an attendance of from 1,000 to 2,000 delegates at their state conventions. Kentucky has never had as many as 500. Why is this? Is it a lack of interest, or is it lack of information as to the real value of these conventions? Here is another fact in those states: The enrollment in each school, on the average, is equal to or a little above the church membership. In Kentucky the average is little if any above half of this. Still another fact: In those States about one-half of all white Protestant children of school age are enrolled in the Sunday school. In Kentucky only about one-fifth of these are enrolled. These are facts that should give us the deepest concern. In those states every county is organized, and the state association is looked upon by all denominations as one of the most important factors in Sunday school progress, and it is given their hearty support. In Kentucky we have about 25 strong, 45 good, 25 weak and 29 normal organizations. Isn't it time Kentucky was availing itself of this strong organization? We are to discuss at Hopkinsville every phase of Sunday school work, and in the light of these facts, lay plans for future work. Will not every Sunday school in the state send at least one representative to Hopkinsville to help us solve the tremendous problem of bringing into the Sunday school, to Christ, and into the church the 500,000 white Protestant boys and girls between the ages of six and twenty in Kentucky who are not in any Sunday school? If you don't know of the great work the State Association is doing for the Sunday school interests of our beloved state, write to E. A. Fox, General Secretary, Louisville, Ky.

Those desiring life insurance will find it to their interest to investigate the plans and record of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark, N. J. No stockholders. All profits divided among policy holders. It is conspicuous for economical management, liberality of its policy contract, fair-dealing with its members and large annual dividends to reduce cost of your insurance.

WALLACE & MOORE, Agents.

"Why is it," was asked by a prominent citizen the other day, we don't have more factories and institutions that give employment to home labor? The answer was, Do you buy every article you can in Hopkinsville? Well, no, my wife did buy a steel cooking range from a gentleman from St. Louis who had them in a wagon, and I ordered a suit of clothes because I thought it some cheaper than I could get it at home. With these few exceptions and maybe some minor things, I get all at home. Well, my friend you have answered why Hopkinsville don't have more industries better than I can tell you.

Educational.

The next session of my boarding and day school for young men and boys will begin Monday, Sept. 1st, 1902. For terms and other information, address

J. O. FERRELL, Hopkinsville, Ky.
